

How Customers View & Accept

See exactly what your customers experience when they receive, view, and electronically accept an estimate through the email link or on-site preview.

When you send a PaintScout estimate, customers receive an email with a link to view, download, and electronically accept the estimate online.

How do customers view their estimates?

Customers receive the estimate via email with a clickable link. The link opens a webpage where they can view the entire estimate.

The screenshot displays a customer's view of a PaintScout estimate. At the top, there is a navigation bar with a logo, an "ACCEPT ESTIMATE" button, and a "MORE" dropdown. A sidebar on the left contains a "Table of Contents" and links to "ESTIMATE", "ABOUT US", "REVIEWS", "PORTFOLIO", "DOCUMENTS", and "SERVICES". The main content area is titled "Estimate" and includes contact information for PaintScout and Jane McKinley. It also lists job details for Emma Goldwyn, including the address and contact number. A table titled "Estimate" shows a breakdown of costs for interior preparation, living room, dining room, and office. The total cost is $3,183.37. A "CHAT" button is located in the bottom right corner.
